

DR. J. M. BLACK KILLED; CAR IS HIT BY TRAIN

Pioneer Physician, Farmer and Business Man

CAR IS STALLED

Connected With Various Business Enterprises in City

Dr. J. M. Black, pioneer ranchman of Randall county and business man of Canyon, died Saturday night at 7:45 o'clock in an Amarillo hospital where he was taken after his car was hit by a Santa Fe passenger train at 6:10 two blocks from his home. He was returning home from business engagements, and according to witnesses to the unfortunate accident, it seemed that the engine of his car stalled on the railroad track. It was thought that Dr. Black was attempting to get out of the car when hit by the train, throwing him about 30 feet, and badly injuring him about the head, causing concussion of the brain.

The funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Presbyterian church, conducted by Rev. F. T. Charlton, assisted by Rev. C. W. Poote. Mayor C. R. Burrow, a close friend for more than 30 years, read a tribute to the deceased.

Active pall bearers were R. E. Baird, J. W. Baird, C. R. Burrow, T. V. Slack, R. McGee, and R. H. Wright. Honorary pall bearers were members of the medical fraternity.

James Madison Black was born in Benton County, Arkansas, January 28, 1861, having reached the age of 72 years, 5 months and 17 days at the time of his death. His family moved to Texas when he was a boy, settling at Wolfe City. He was married to Miss Madge W. George on April 14, 1885, and to this union nine children were born, seven of whom are living. Henry, the oldest child, and Millard, preceded their father in death. Surviving besides the wife and mother are: J. C. Black, J. H. Black, W. C. Black, S. L. Black, and Miss Pearl Black of Canyon; W. S. Black of Tulsa, Mrs. J. C. Freeman of White Deer; and one sister, Mrs. J. H. Nail of Fort Worth.

Physician and Farmer
Dr. Black was a graduate of the St. Louis Medical College. He practiced at Wolfe City before coming to Canyon, and continued his practice when he arrived here. However, Dr. Black did not like the medical profession and induced the late Dr. D. M. Stewart to move here to take over his practice. He acquired a ranch south of Canyon, which still bears his name, although he disposed of it 26 years ago. The love for stock raising and for farming was always strong in his heart, and he continued to engage in them until recent years.

Dr. Black has been very active in business circles in Canyon. At the time of his death he was president of the First State Bank, president of the Canyon Supply Company, and vice president of the Thompson Hardware Company. He was connected with the Canyon National Bank before it was absorbed by the First National, and helped organize the Citizens Bank, which was consolidated with the First State Bank. He is an extensive owner of Canyon property.

Burrow in Tribute
Mayor C. R. Burrow spoke at the funeral service, paying a beautiful tribute to the deceased, as follows:
Occasions of this kind are filled with sorrow—for the severing of the thread of life that binds one to family and friends leaves those of us who remain with a feeling of distinct loss. When our friends and loved ones pass from our midst one by one and go into the Great Beyond, the world changes for each of us. The familiar landmarks are removed, leaving a strangeness we had not noted before. The great rugged tree that has reared its protecting canopy for years over the restful spot where friendship and love flourished is rent asunder leaving a great emptiness on the landscape of our existence.

It is with such feelings as these that we come to perform the last sad rites for one we love.

These feelings come home to me personally as my memory wanders.

Three Men Killed At Crossings; Urges Need of Underpass

Three men have been killed on the Santa Fe at the crossings north of the business section during the past few years. L. C. Crawford stated Tuesday that he favored a movement to secure government money to build an underpass connecting the business section with the highway north of town, and give the people living on the north side a safe way to reach the downtown district.

Mr. Crawford believes that a movement should be started at once for this underpass.

No Chance For Highway to Palo Duro Park Now

Senator Clint C. Small was in Austin last week appearing before the State Highway Commission regarding new highway projects in the Panhandle. He presented Randall county's claim for designation of the highway east from Canyon through the Palo Duro Park to Claude.

Senator Small has reported to the News that the $25,000,000 extra federal aid granted Texas to supply employment has been eagerly sought, and that projects amounting to probably three times that amount have been filed with the Highway Commission. The commission has decided on three policies, each of which would cut out the Randall county project: No new designation of state highways; no new work in counties where projects are now being carried on; no work on lateral county roads.

Senator Small is hopeful that at the next meeting of the Commission this body may be induced to connect the Palo Duro Park at Canyon owing to the heavy traffic, and the necessity of road improvements.

In the Randall county project, Senator Small also asked for a highway south from Amarillo to the Palsades Park. T. E. Johnston, chairman of the Palo Duro Park committee, states that this project will not be pushed by Amarillo until the highway is established east of Canyon to the major park. It is contemplated sending a large delegation to Austin at the next meeting of the Commission to assist Senator Small in working for this project.

The necessity of a wider road from Canyon to the park site is greatly realized, but the Commissioners Court does not desire to widen this road until it is evident that the state will take over and designate it as a state project. County roads are 80 feet wide, whereas state highways must be 100 feet wide.

Minneapolis Boy is Preparing Bird Ex- hibit for Museum

Kenneth Carlander of Minneapolis is making a study of Panhandle birds and a record and specimens of those he finds will become the property of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum. This collection, according to Professor L. F. Sheffy, will be an invaluable educational addition to the Museum.

Carlander has been working only a short time, but he has identified 36 Panhandle birds and has prepared scientific skins of a number of them. He works under a special permit from the State and Federal governments, under which he is allowed to kill a limited number of protected birds for scientific purposes.

The most unexpected name on his list up to the present time is the Mississippi Kite, a hawklike bird not generally found in this section.

Mr. Carlander graduated from the Minneapolis High School this spring; he is spending the summer with his uncle, Guy Carlander of Amarillo. Most of his days are spent in the open observing birds, identifying their nests and studying their habits. Once each week he reports his findings to the College.

When he enters the University of Minnesota next fall he expects to make a special study of ornithology.

TWO LIGHT RAINS

Showers have fallen over Randall county the past week, with two showers in Canyon. Friday morning the rain amounted to .09 of an inch, and Tuesday another fell amounting to .24 of an inch.

No general rain has fallen in any section of the Panhandle.

Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Sheffy spent Sunday in Dimmitt.

$200,000.00 FOR 500 WHEAT MEN IN RANDALL CO.

Money Due This Fall To Those Signing The Agreements

UPCHURCH EXPLAINS

County Divided Into Districts, and Meetings Called

Five hundred wheat farmers in Randall county will have a chance to receive something like $200,000 this fall and next spring if they are inclined to join in a nationwide plan to reduce the acreage of wheat they plant this fall by not to exceed 20 per cent of the average acreage planted on each farm for the past three years.

The average acreage is based on the acres planted and not on the acres harvested.

The farm adjustment administration this summer will offer wheat producers an opportunity to sign contracts for reducing wheat acreage for the crops of 1934 and 1935, in return for which they will receive a payment, in addition to the market price, on the domestically consumed part of their production. The money for these payments will come from a tax on the processing of wheat for domestic use.

In no way does this plan interfere with the normal marketing of wheat.

UPCHURCH TO SHORT COURSE

W. H. Upchurch states that he will be out of town next week attending the Farmer's Short Course at A. & M. College, at which instructions for the handling of the wheat allotment will be given. The following week he will be in his office ready to see those who are interested in the plan.

wheat. You can sell your wheat, when, where and at whatever price you want to, just as you always have. There is no separation of the wheat into two piles, one for domestic and one for export consumption. The domestic allotment involves only a statistical separation.

The benefit payments will be made in addition to the market price to those growers who decide to go along on the plan, and reduce acreage, if required, on the 1934 and 1935 crops. The required acreage reduction can in no case exceed 20 per cent. The exact percentage cannot be announced until later.

If it is possible to get the administrative machinery in motion, the first benefit payment will be made about September 15. That will be (Continued on last page)

Criminal Cases Are Tried in Justice Court During Week

Clyde Johnston was arrested Thursday by Sheriff Bob Barnett and Constable Shorty McCormick, charged with transportation of liquor. Johnston's car is being held. He made appearance bond in the amount of $1500.

Johnston pleaded guilty to breaking glass on the pavement when the officers sought his arrest. He was charged with throwing a bottle of liquor to the highway, and pleaded guilty. Later he filed an appeal on this case.

Curtis Brown was tried Monday in Justice Court for being intoxicated, being found guilty by a jury. He has appealed the case. He made bond on the charge of possession of 10 gallons of home brew, which was taken from his home last Wednesday.

"Governor" Ross was found insane by a jury Monday and will be taken to Wichita Falls. It was developed that the man has been an inmate in every insane hospital in Texas, and in one in New Mexico. He was charged with piling ties on the Santa Fe railroad a few weeks ago.

J. C. Ford pleaded guilty to giving a hot check and paid a fine.

"Red" Cook was released from a 16-day jail sentence in order to secure a job.

P.T.A. Preparing For Round-Up of School Children

The executive committee of the P. T. A. met yesterday and decided to hold the summer round-up for children of pre-school age. The dates for the round-up are August 28, 29, 30.

This movement is designated to enroll those children which will start to school this year for the first time, and to assist the parents in making preparations.

Additional information will be given later as to the plan for the Round-up.

FRED WORTHAM ATTENDS DALLAS TRAINING SCHOOL

Fred E. Wortham, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, left yesterday with his family for Dallas where he will attend a training school next week for Chamber of Commerce executives. This is the first school of its kind ever held in the Southwest. Prominent Chamber of Commerce officials from over the nation will appear on the program.

The Wortham family will visit with relatives following the school in Dallas.

NEW STUDENTS NUMBER 128 AT NEW QUARTER

Gain for Quarter Nearly Offset Those Who Left

MANY TO GRADUATE

Work Being Planned for Beginning of Fall Quarter

One hundred twenty-eight new students had enrolled for the second term of the summer session late Wednesday afternoon. College authorities are well pleased with this number. It will bring the attendance for the summer to more than eighty per cent of the total of last summer, a record which is far above the average for the colleges of the state. It is expected that there will be additional enrollments all of this week, as some students have signified their intention of coming and have explained their delay in arriving on the campus.

Class work began Wednesday, and most classes showed less shrinkage than had been expected. Something more than 100 students withdrew at the close of the first term, a great number of them to begin their schools in sections where there will be a long vacation later for cotton picking. Some of these students hope to come back for the first half of the split semester.

There will be a large summer graduating class this year. Registrar Shirley said that he could not give the exact number, as new applications are being received daily. The summer class has not yet completed its commencement arrangements, but these will be announced soon.

The cooler weather is much appreciated by students who expect to do even better work during the last half than they were able to do during the first six weeks. Instructors report that the work this summer has been of high quality, the attitude on the part of most students being one of high purposefulness. Dr. Hill has expressed himself as very well pleased with the progress of the summer school up to this time.

"No tuition will be charged in either the grades or the high school departments of the training school during the coming year." This announcement, important to citizens of many towns besides Canyon, was made this week by President J. A. Hill.

Many people in places where high school work will be discontinued or greatly curtailed this year want (Continued on last page)

Magazines, and Games Are Needed for Men in Camps

The American Legion Auxiliary collected Thursday afternoon about 1,000 magazines for distribution at the three Citizens Conservation Corps camps at the Palo Duro State Park. The Auxiliary calls upon the citizens of Canyon to donate more magazines and books to distribute among the men.

The Auxiliary members are anxious for games, jigsaw puzzles, dominoes, playing cards, checkers, and other games to distribute among the men.

Mrs. H. O. Price, Mrs. Tom Knighton and Mrs. Guy Harp are members of the committee who are gathering these items to take to the camps.

Any of these items may be left at the News office and they will be turned over to the Auxiliary committee.

C. C. C. Workers Are Settled on Work At Park

The following article is contributed to The News by W. B. Grauel, a newspaper man, who is with the C. C. C. at the Palo Duro State Park.

By W. B. GRAUEL
Company 1823, C. C. C.

From the Gulf blows of East Texas to the heights of Northwest Texas, World War veterans of Houston, Beaumont, Port Arthur, Orange and other nearby cities who are members of President Roosevelt's great Civilian Conservation Corps, have come to Canyon to participate in a program that promises to make the Palo Duro Canyon one of the outstanding "show places" of Texas.

The veterans so far encamped here are from various parts of Texas, 600 in number, 200 to a company. The Beaumont-Houston company is No. 1823. Major Randolph Gordon, in charge. According to information given out from offices in Canyon, it is planned to bring additional companies from other states and it is hoped by the citizens of Canyon and Amarillo that the program will be carried through on a scale that would see thousands of men eventually working amid the magnificent grandeur that abounds in Palo Duro Canyon.

What is this Palo Duro Canyon that suddenly has won especial prominence as the result of President Roosevelt's forestry conservation idea? It is said of the canyon

ANOTHER RAIN HITS

C. C. C. workers received another thrill of Panhandle weather Tuesday evening when a rain storm hit the camp, taking down eight tents.

One of the men became lost in the canyon during the heavy down pour, and unable to reach the top on account of the steep and slick climb. Ropes were thrown to the man, and he was pulled out by comrades in camp.

that it defies the work of pen or painter's brush. It presents an awe-inspiring, kaleidoscopic picture fashioned by Nature and Nature's God which no man can fully portray. It is Edenic and entrancing in its charm. Here the lover of natural history, fossil and geology can explore to his heart's content. Imagine yourself journeying over the level plains with your vision confronted only by the distant horizon and the shifting mirage of the broad, sun-lit plains of the Panhandle, to suddenly halt upon the very verge of a precipice or wall of hundreds of feet, and see from one to three miles across a similar precipice or wall on the opposite side, you have some idea of the canyon, at least so far as length, height, or depth, magnitude and, above all, beauty are concerned.

The precipices, slopes and great banks of the canyon give off every known shade and coloring, and in their fantastic creation nature and geology combined their greatest forces to produce an adamant picture, awesome, weird, sublime, picturesque, or, in a word, astonishing. The main portion of the canyon is about 80 miles in length, featured by two stupendous canyon (Continued on last page)

Palo Duro Park Is Praised by Officers In Charge of Work

Officers of the army and engineers for the State Park Board were entertained Tuesday at the Rotary luncheon with Marion Bishir, chairman of the Vocational Service committee, in charge of the program.

Major James Watson highly praised the 600 men who are working on the project. All are ex-service men, average about 40 years in age, and all men with families. They are from all vocations, are good workmen, and exceptionally highly qualified for the work at hand. The army's part is to see that the men are cared for from a physical standpoint, and they are then turned over to the Park engineers for work. Major Watson stated that such a class of men will do good work on the project. He expressed great appreciation for the courtesies shown by the people of Canyon to the men in camp.

Major Randolph Gordon expressed his appreciation for the interest shown by the people of Canyon in the men, and in the work which was underway.

Captain Lee V. Hunnicutt believed that the C. C. C. was the greatest work the President has undertaken. The army is looked upon as a war organization, but as a matter of fact it is a peace time agency. The $25 which is sent home monthly by the men will greatly relieve conditions in this country.

S. O. Miller, engineer, stated that a road into the Palo Duro was the first project, and this work was started Tuesday. It will take about 3 1/2 months to build this road. Then will follow the building of a lodge, cabins, dams and other improvements. No instructions have been given as to a road going out on the east side.

Capt. Owens, engineer, stated that his department felt very fortunate in securing the type of men who had been sent here. He appreciated the co-operation given by the citizens of Canyon.

F. A. Emory of Chicago, was introduced as the man responsible for getting the Palo Duro Park started.

Bill Bryant and Travis Shaw were welcomed back as members of the Club, and Carl Laughery was introduced as a new member.

College Park Station Highjacked Earl Monday Eve.

A highjacker walked into the College Park Filling Station Monday night at 9:00 o'clock, threatening with a gun Earl Russell, and getting away with between $7 and $8 which was in the cash register.

Mr. Russell was able to give the officers a description of the man, whom he thought to be under 25 years of age. The highways were closely watched by officers, but no clues were found.

CANYON PLAYERS SWEEP HEREFORD TENNIS SERIES

Leroy Landers, Billy McClure and Clarence Wooten went to Hereford Sunday where they played three single and two double matches. The Canyon players took all of the five games. Landers played in the doubles with both of his team mates.

A son was born June 21st to Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Watson of Kress. The mother will be remembered as Miss Mae Beth Bishop.

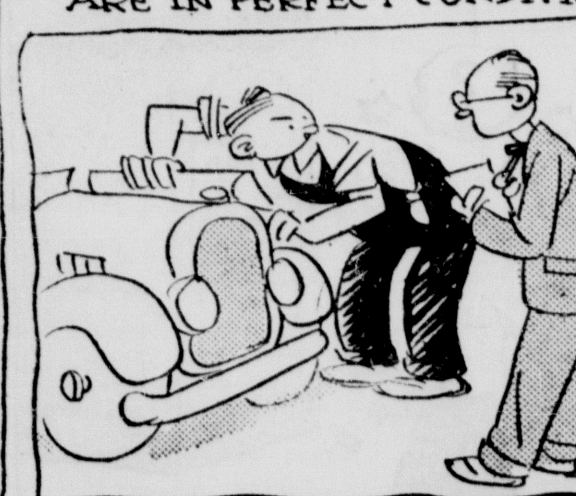

Piano Needed For Use at the C. C. C. Camp

A piano is needed at the Palo Duro Park, stated Captain Savage Tuesday. A joint mess and Recreation Hall will provide a meeting place for the men. There are a number of talented musicians at the camp, some of whom have their stringed instruments. A piano would be greatly appreciated if some one in Canyon has one they could loan to the boys at the camp.

Al Smith has definitely broken with President Roosevelt, according to a statement in his magazine. Ever since Roosevelt succeeded in winning the Democratic nomination, Smith has been cold toward the President. The administration plan of business recovery does not suit Smith. In fact, the business leaders of America have been wondering whether or not the plan would work, and should the plan fail, there have been numerous predictions that America would be worse off than it is today. The fear of the government's entering too greatly into business has always been expressed in this country. But the government is now in all lines of business, and the people are blindly following the President. It is to be hoped that it is not another case of the blind leading the blind. If the plan wins, Roosevelt will be immortal in American history; if the plan fails, he will be dubbed the greatest failure as a President that this nation has ever had.

Stress of the times will demand that all public institutions be run as economically as possible. Colleges are more or less classified according to the expenditure for each student. W. T. has always tried to be economical from the students' standpoint, and has earned the honorable name of "the poor man's college." But even the rigid economy of the past will be increased during the coming year. In spite of the increase in registration fees, passed by the legislature, costs have been reduced to the students, and every possible inducement will be offered to make it possible for the young people of Northwest Texas to attend college during these trying times. Students who are here now; citizens of Canyon; friends of W. T. should rapidly spread the word regarding the low costs of attending college in Canyon. In spite of the economic stress, indications are that there will be an increased attendance at W. T. this fall.

Al Baggett is coming to W. T. with a wonderful record of achievement as an athletic coach. He takes the place of a man who accomplished much in athletics, and who established a most unusual reputation for W. T. in basketball. He will find a wealth of material when he comes to his new position. He will find a college and a town solidly supporting him in his program. He comes with the best wishes of hundreds of fans from Amarillo, who are vitally interested in his success, and the success of his Buffalo teams. Indications are that Mr. Baggett will have a most successful year. The best wishes of Northwest Texas are extended to him.

Marvin Jones is back in the Panhandle. A most notable service has Mr. Jones performed as representative from this district of Texas. His administration has been such as to meet the approval of all citizens who have carefully followed his career. But there is trouble ahead for Mr. Jones when he hits the Panhandle. 10,000 good Democrats are expecting him to find them jobs which do not exist. About 9,500 of these will be bitterly disappointed because the jobs are not forthcoming. But Marvin Jones is resourceful. He is frank in telling the people the truth. He will not side-step the issue, or evade the responsibility. A lot of Democrats are going to be sorely disappointed in not getting on the government payroll, but don't blame Congressman Jones. He cannot create jobs which do not exist.

Randall county has been fortunate in always having a county agent. It was found during the war that the county agent paid his salary many years in advance on account of the service rendered stockmen through securing reduced freight rates. During the past few months, counties with agents have found that their farmers are being better cared for in feed and feed loans than the farmers in counties which do not have agents. It is in emergencies, and during times of depression that the counties reap the greatest benefits from the county agents, as well as the home demonstrators. Both are repaying their salaries many times in the service rendered to the people of the county.

The boys out at the Citizens Conservation Corps are highly pleased with the reception given by the people of Canyon. The News was distributed last week to the men; magazines were taken out by the American Legion; envelopes and stationery, together with ink are being furnished free; entertainments of various kinds will be given; church services will be conducted by the pastors of Canyon. These men are all ex-service men, who are here to render a peace time service to the state and federal governments in making the Palo Duro State Park. The citizens of Canyon wish them well, and offer every possible facility to make their stay pleasant.

The most dastardly crime in America today is kidnapping. Bolder and bolder have become the criminal class in the execution of their plot of kidnapping. More and more money is being demanded as success after success is attained. Punishment by death has little dread for the kidnappers, who so far have escaped. Wealthy families in the east are forced to employ body guards for each and every member of the family, and are living in constant fear. The crime wave in America seems to have reached a climax in kidnapping.

It is stated that James E. Ferguson has broken with Speaker Coke Stevenson, and will not support Stevenson in the campaign for governor. That is not surprising. Ferguson is a hard taskmaster. He elected Stevenson as Speaker of the House. In this capacity, he expected to dictate to Stevenson. Knowing Coke Stevenson as we do, we long ago predicted this break, as Jim Ferguson, or any one else, cannot tell the Speaker what he shall do, or how he shall do it.

President Roosevelt has indicated his desire to place all postmasters under civil service. 15,000 Republican postmasters are hoping that the order will be made before they relinquish their office to Democratic appointees. Chances are that after all postoffices have been

New Lindy Flight Heralds Approach Of Transatlantic Air Service

THE forecast that within a few years passenger planes will be making regular trips across the ocean between the United States and Europe, is strengthened once more by the latest adventure of the Flying Lindberghs—a flight across the sub-arctic.

For 14 years aviation has sought the safest, surest route between America and the Old World. Aviators have braved the hazardous flying conditions of the north country, and in some instances have lost their lives, trying to determine the possibilities of the "northeastern passage"—the Labrador-Greenland-Iceland route.

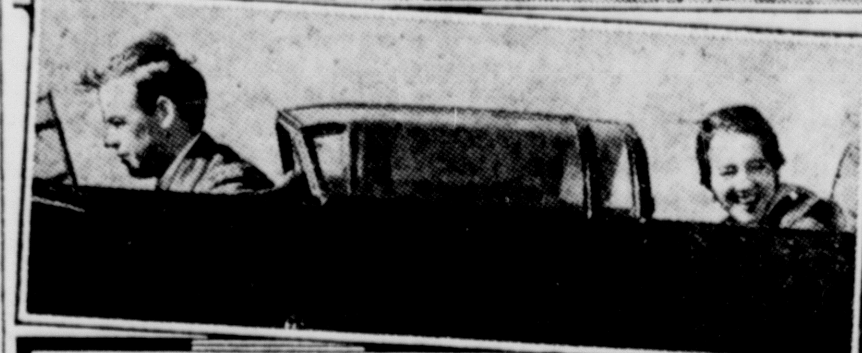

It is the aim of the colonel, as technical adviser for Pan-American Airways, and his wife to blaze the safest and most efficient trail for a future transoceanic airlines. In this task Colonel Lindbergh, is aided by three Pan-American expeditions.

A party of scientists gathering meteorological data has been in West Greenland for more than a year. A similar party is making reams of notes in East Greenland. And a splendidly-equipped steamer, the Jelling, carrying a group of technicians headed by Major Robert A. Logan, is Labrador-bound.

Besides acting as a fuel and supply base for the Lindberghs during their weeks of reconnoitering, the Jelling will steam long the shores of Labrador, Greenland and Iceland, while Logan's men map harbors, study water currents and sound ocean depths. From the air, Colonel Lindbergh will study winds and temperatures, photograph coastlines and record fog conditions.

UPON the findings of these expeditions will depend the location for the future bases for transoceanic passenger planes. It is believed that there will be found a safe northeastern passage, which will minimize the dangers of fog and sleet and the bad weather which hovers consistently about Greenland and near the Shetland Islands.

One other difficulty which has retarded the development of commercial transoceanic aviation has been the lack of planes capable of carrying a pay load sufficient to make the service profitable. The fact that at the present time a fleet of "super-clippers"—huge, four-motored flying boats which can carry 50 passengers—are being built for Pan-American, indicates the last

THE itinerary of the Lindberghs in indefinite. After surveys of Labrador, Greenland and Iceland have been completed, they may continue eastward to the Faroe Islands, a Danish possession, and perhaps even drop in on Denmark itself.

They are well equipped for emergencies. In addition to an extra supply of gasoline and a month's rations, the colonel has packed a small tent, a rifle, fishing tackle, a machete, a rubber boat and a small outboard motor. The latter may prove useful in taxiing the plane to and from moorings.

While the actual survey work will be handled by the colonel himself, relief piloting, handling the radio and making the expedition's photographs fall to the lot of Mrs. Lindbergh.

Their expedition will probably last until late in August.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

THE STATE OF TEXAS:

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Randall County—Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summon Joseph Austin Bassett, and the unknown heirs of said Joseph Austin Bassett, their heirs and legal representatives, by making publication of this citation once each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, if there be a newspaper published therein, but, if not, then in the nearest county where a newspaper is published, to appear at the next regular term of the district court of Randall County, Texas, to be held at the courthouse thereof, in Canyon, Texas, on the first Monday in August, A. D. 1933, the same being the 7th day of August, A. D. 1933, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 3rd day of July, A. D. 1933, in a suit numbered on the docket of said court, No. 1380, wherein Florence Donovan, a feme sole, Henry Alton Bassett and Lydia E. V. Bassett, a feme sole, are plaintiffs, and Joseph Austin Bassett, and the unknown heirs of said Joseph Austin Bassett, their heirs and legal representatives, are defendants; the nature of plaintiffs' demand being as follows:

Plaintiffs allege, in count of trespass to try title, that on or about the 1st day of May, 1933, they were lawfully seized and possessed of an undivided five-sixths interest in and to section No. forty (40), block No. nine (9), certificate 1-20, B. S. & F. grantee, located in Randall County, Texas, and pray for judgment for title and possession of said interest in said land as against defendants.

In the alternative, plaintiffs allege that plaintiffs and defendants are the joint owners of said section No. forty (40), block No. nine (9), certificate 1-20 B. S. & F. grantee, Randall County, Texas, as heirs of Allen S. Bassett, deceased; the plaintiff, Florence Donovan, being entitled to an undivided one-half interest, and the plaintiffs, Henry Alton Bassett and Lydia E. V. Bassett, and the defendant, Joseph Austin Bassett, (or his representative heirs, if he be dead) being each entitled to an undivided one-sixth interest in and to said tract of land; the plaintiff, Florence Donovan, further alleging a cloud cast on the title to her interest in said lands by reason of a certain deed of trust executed by her on the 3rd day of December, 1917, in favor of the defendant, Joseph Austin Bassett, due on or before five years after date, which said deed of trust and lien created thereby she alleges she is entitled to have cancelled, and her interest in said land awarded to her free and clear thereof.

Plaintiffs, on their alternative plea, pray for judgment partitioning said land among plaintiffs and defendants, according to their respective interests; and the plaintiff, Florence Donovan, further prays that the cloud cast on the title to her interest in said land be removed, and that her share be awarded to her free and clear of said deed of trust lien aforesaid; and plaintiffs further pray for all relief to which they may show themselves entitled, whether general or special, legal or equitable; and also for citation by publication, the place of residence of the defendant, Joseph Austin Bassett, if living, being unknown; and, if he be dead, the heirs, their heirs and legal representatives, of the said Joseph Austin Bassett being unknown.

"It saved his life,"
the doctor said

A Texas farmer was chopping wood one morning. The ax glanced off a hickory log and deeply gashed his foot.

His wife telephoned the doctor—"Come as fast as you can!"

"Tie a cord tightly around his leg below the knee. I'll be there at once," a voice flashed back along the wires.

Later, the doctor said: "Those brief directions by telephone saved that man's life. Even then, he was very weak when I arrived."*

SIDELIGHTS

By MARVIN JONES

Member of Congress from Texas.

I have been asked by a number of people for an explanation of the plans that have been laid out for wheat under the new farm act. While conditions may cause some changes to be made, according to the present plan of the Wheat Administration the following program has been agreed upon:

The general funds made available for the wheat program will be apportioned among the wheat-producing states, on the basis of the five-year average production of the years 1928 to 1932 inclusive.

The state's portion of these funds will then be allocated to each wheat-producing county in the state, on the basis of such county's average annual production for the same five years.

The county funds will then be allocated to individual farmers as a definite payment per bushel on the average annual production of such individual farmer for the years 1930, 1931 and 1932 inclusive. The payment will be made only on the percentage of that production which is domestically consumed.

The amount of such fund has not yet been definitely determined.

Keep Up to Par With Right Links Togs

ON THE GOLF COURSE, EITHER SWEATER-AND-SKIRT FROCK, OR SILK DRESS WITH SHIRTWAIST, IS SUITABLE

BY HARRIET

THIS summer's clothes have a chic, nonchalant air about them. You need just the right golf ensemble for your vacation whether you break par on all the holes or just stand around on the links, being decorative.

You can have silk frocks of the shirtwaist variety, or woolen sweater-and-skirt outfits. Either choice is sure to be a correct one. It is an excellent idea to have a couple of both. Wear the silk ones when the sun is hot. The wool ones will serve for cooler days and give you that tailored, well-groomed appearance.

Many a girl has lost the game of golf but won admiration by wearing honest-to-goodness clothes. Don't, for a minute, think you can get away with street clothes or, worse yet, afternoon things when you are swinging a mashie or a niblick.

Shirtwaist frocks are pin-striped, for the most part. They come in various materials—silk, broadcloth, cotton and sheer wool. Many of them are cut with pleats in front and back. Some have pleats in the waist, too, allowing for more freedom of your arms.

Three-piece sweater suits are practical additions to any wardrobe. The button-down-the-front sweater can be taken off, leaving you a simple pull-over and skirt.

Another popular sweater-type dress consists of a skirt and long-sleeved sweater with crew neck.

Pastel colors are cooler to look at. But you can use your own imagination. Brilliant reds, greens, orange and blue, combined with a neutral color can be handsome and give you that devil-may-care look.

Your accessories, with golf outfits, are important, too. Flat heels are positively necessary. Oxfords in kid or buckskin are old favorites. Gillies vie with them for favor. If you wear your golf clothes around the country club and not on the course itself, perhaps you will prefer shoes with medium low heels—but not such flat ones.

The smart woman wears a hat when she plays golf. It is usually of felt. And the mannish ones complement your sports clothes and low-heeled shoes.

If you want to keep your hands from becoming hard and calloused, you'd better invest in some gloves, too. Fabric ones are coolest.

The smart chardonize sports dress is blue with a heavy white rib running lengthwise. The surplus closing and bow at the shoulder lend a soft, feminine touch. Worn with beige kid sandals it is just the thing for sipping iced tea on the porch of the country club. With flat-heeled oxfords, it can go around the course in record time—fashion record time, at least.

A beautifully tailored golf costume has a gray wool skirt and long-sleeved, crew-neck sweater to match. The sweater has a striking red and white motif design going all the way around it.

Top the outfit with a gray felt fedora, add yellow fabric gloves and gray suede gillies—you'll have a costume which will do you proud on any golf course.

but it will probably be about 30c per bushel. Two-thirds of the amount will be paid to the individual farmer on or before September 15, 1933, and the other one-third will be paid to him after the planting season has been definitely passed and he is able to show that he has complied with the requirement that his wheat acreage be reduced for the year 1934 in such amount (not to exceed 20%) as may be fixed by the Administrator. It may be necessary for him to sign a second year contract, but in that event he would receive additional payments for 1934.

To illustrate: If a farmer produced 2,000 bushels in 1930, 3,000 bushels in 1931, and 1,000 bushels in 1932, his average annual production would be 2,000 bushels.

Assuming that 60% of the wheat produced in America is needed for domestic consumption, then this farmer's domestic percentage of average production would be 60% of 2,000 bushels, or a total of 1,200 bushels.

On this 1,200 bushels he would receive his definite per bushel allotment, which, if 30c per bushel, would amount to $360. He would be given a check for $240 on or before September 15, and would be given a check at a later time for $120.

This would not interfere in any way with the regular marketing of his current crop. He would sell what wheat he raises in the regular way and secure the returns thereon. The $360 would be paid him as a sum in addition to whatever he might receive for his wheat in selling the same in the open market. The regular markets would not be interfered with in any way. The funds will be replenished by means of a processing fee.

Something is wrong somewhere if it doesn't cost less to finance the stock than it did in days of prosperity.

After death we don't know, and darned if we are in any hurry to learn.

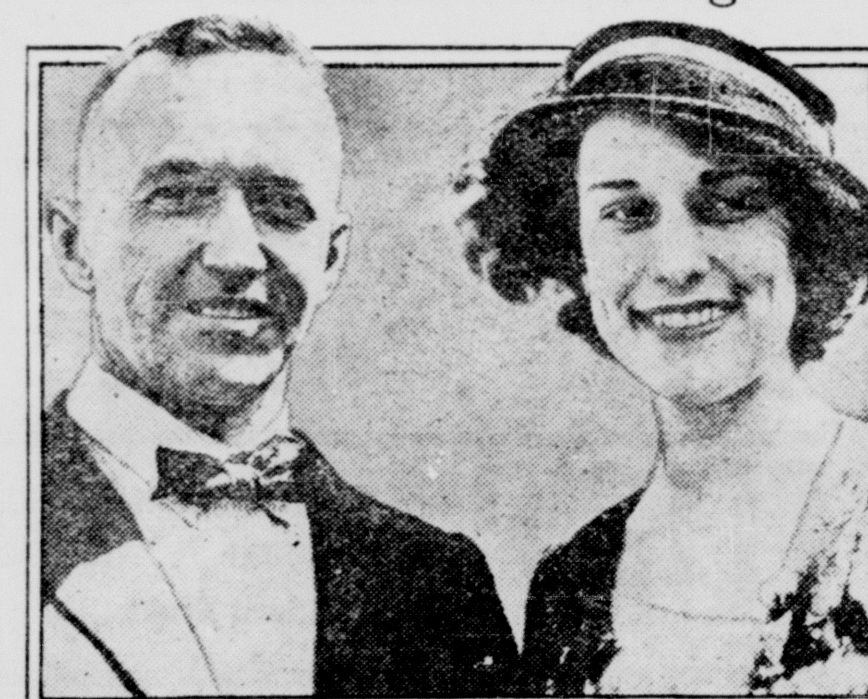

Don't pity the woman who has been jilted. She got out of the mess easily.

If some people would confine themselves to telling what they know they would soon cease talking.

Admitted that there are two sides to every question, but both may be wrong.

If we all thought alike life would become so tame we would soon cease to think.

The tank holds seven ounces of gasoline, sufficient for 45 minutes flying. J. D. Bunch is shown with the model, which weighs but eight pounds and has a wing span of 10 feet.

CHAUNCEY M. DEPEW IN TALK REGARDING LIQUOR

"Twenty-five years ago I knew every man, woman, and child in Peckskill. And it has been a study with me to mark boys who started in every grade of life with myself, to see what has become of them. I was up last fall and began to count them over, and it was an instructive exhibit. Some of them became clerks, merchants, manufacturers, lawyers, doctors. It is remarkable that every one of those that drank is dead, not one living of my age. Barring a few who were taken by sickness, every one that proved a wreck and wrecked his family did it from rum and no other cause. Of those who are church-going people, who were steady, industrious, and hard-working men, who were frugal and thrifty, every single one of them, without exception own his house in which he lives and has something laid by, the interest on which, with his house, would carry him through many a rainy day. When a man becomes debased with gambling, rum, or drink, he doesn't care, all his finer feelings are crowded out."—(Chauncey M. Depew, President of N. Y. Central R. R. Co. in a talk to railroad men. He was also a U. S. Senator.

THE OLD SOLDIERS REUNIONS

(By John Knight)

The Old Soldiers' Reunions, which met each summer in Canyon for ten consecutive years, were a bright spot in the life of the Old Timers and their families. The first Reunion was held in 1900 and continued each year until 1910.

One of the attractions at the first Reunion, which was held on the Bates farm northwest of town, was Esau, the snake eater, a hairy man with false face and some contraption in his mouth which enabled him to bite and pull off the heads of snakes. There were some animals, the cattalo, a cross between the buffalo and range cattle, sent here by Col. Charles Goodnight, which attracted much attention.

The second Reunion was held near the present location of the College athletic field. There was a large gathering, with speakers. Some of these speakers were not accustomed to the strong winds of the Plains, and when during the afternoon a strong wind came up, they dived under the high platform and remained until the blow was over and the excitement died down.

Following this period, John Hutson of the T-Anchor Ranch, offered the town the use of a section of ground southeast for a permanent place of meeting for the old soldiers, which was much appreciated by the citizens. During Reunions the whole hillside was covered with tents and covered wagons for several days.

The people of Canyon contributed money and provisions for the old soldiers and their families. There were merry-go-rounds, fortune tellers, political speakings, Molly Bailey and her show, and a general good time for everybody. It was a gathering place for old friends who lived far apart and did not see each other except upon such occasions.

Some of the neighboring towns attempted to have Reunions, but since Canyon had voted out the saloons in 1900 the Old Soldiers decided to meet here, as they did not wish to bring their families to a town which had saloons.

Large numbers came year after year, and although many of the pioneers have passed away, those who remain have pleasant memories of the Old Soldiers Reunions held in Canyon.

Some of the old people think the young people are foolish because they don't think the things it takes forty or fifty years to learn.

Our favorite uplifter is the elevator boy because he doesn't take up a collection.

Sudden death seems to have overtaken that scrip money idea.

Babies make a lot of noise, and some of them keep right on at it until they grow up and die.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORTS

With His Prodigies, Denny Shute and Helen Wills Moody, Uncle Sam Showed Johnny Bull a Thing or Two About Sports

BY PHILIP MARTIN

SETTING aside the London economic conference, the United States scored two important victories over England this summer, and Australia put over a third.

Denny Shute's victory in the British Open, the first of the invaders' triumphs, was not entirely American, however. Denny's father, Hermon, now a professional at Ashland, O., was born in England and learned his first golf there.

The second triumph by an American was achieved at Wimbledon, where Helen Wills Moody scored her sixth straight tennis championship. Her opponent, the English Sunday school teacher, Dorothy Round, did manage to win a set, the first set Helen has lost since 1927 when another English girl, Gwyneth Sterry, accomplished the feat.

The third victory was by the tall Australian, Jack Crawford, who blasted not only all the Britishers off the court, but also overpowered our own Ellsworth Vines.

If it hadn't been for that Ryder Cup victory over the Yankee team captained by Walter Hagen, all would not be so jolly in dear old London.

HELEN WILLS left the little isle with a great big peeve. In the 13th game of the second set, with the score at 6-all, Miss Round placed a drive inches beyond the baseline. The umpire announced "game," but the linesman called the shot in, announced the score as "deuce" and instructed the players to continue.

Helen appealed, and the umpire reversed his decision. Helen showed the first temperment that she has displayed in years—when she walked off the court and by her attitude indicated unwillingness to continue.

Finally she went back to the court, and in half-hearted fashion finished the match.

Afterward she announced that she would not defend her Wimbledon title again.

Densmore (Denny) Shute and Helen Wills Moody, shown above, who represented the United States in important British sports events, brought home the bacon. Denny won in the British Open golf tournament, and Helen copped in the championship tennis matches at Wimbledon.

PLAINLY the umpire was wrong in calling the ball "out." He should have permitted the linesman to make the call.

Official lawn tennis rules specify the linesman is the only official delegated to decide whether or not balls are "out." The rule states that his decision shall be final, he was entirely within his rights in overruling the zealous umpire.

So what?

Dr. J. M. Black

back through the years when a youth of twenty, new in this great western country and new to life stretching out before him in that charm that only youth can see and never understand, met the rugged middle aged man of the Plains. In this meeting was born one of the most sacred things that come to human beings—a life-long friendship. I was that youth whose immaturity was flattered by the consideration accorded me on the part of the older man, who thus took me into his friendship and confidence. In this way he became a counselor to me in the most formative years of my life. I often sought his advice about financial matters as well as personal matters, and upon these occasions he would give unstintingly of his time and ripe judgment. Above all was the inspiration of the man himself to my youthful life in ways in which neither of us was scarcely aware.

Built for Future

Dr. Black came as a pioneer into this region and brought with him the craving for which pioneers are noted everywhere; namely, to blaze the trail that others may follow and to sow that others may reap.

If you should ask concerning how well he achieved these great aims of his, let me ask you to consider briefly with me a few outstanding contributions of his to the economic welfare of this community.

He was for years president of the First State Bank of this city and left indelibly the impress of his character upon that institution. He was one of the organizers of the Canyon Supply Co. and a member of its directorate. He was likewise prominently connected with Thompson Hardware Co. In other words, he pioneered in these institutions about which a great portion of the economic life of this community revolved; and though these firms should all pass away, the work of him and his associates will remain as the foundation for better business, better churches, better schools and better homes in and about Canyon. Surely this is no small contribution toward the establishment of civilization here on the plains for us to enjoy. But I believe it may truthfully be said that his desire for material betterment was secondary to his zeal for spiritual growth, as a community asset. He realized fully that: "Man does not live by bread alone." His devotion to his church is ample proof. He pioneered here as elsewhere and has the distinction of being a charter member of the Canyon Presbyterian Church.

Loyal to Church

As an Elder of this church he has seen it grow from a small frontier congregation to an organization of definite spiritual influence in the life of this city. He helped largely in the building of the two structures in which the church has been housed; has seen ministers come and go, and has witnessed many sad occasions similar to this one today. Through sunshine and through shadow his devotion to his church never failed. An account of his religious activities in Canyon would be in large measure a history of the local Presbyterian Church. To many of the congregation in recent years he was known as the elderly gentleman who came quietly to his pew on Sunday mornings, listened attentively and reverently, and left in as unobtrusive manner as he came. To those of us who knew him better he was a financial pillar of the church, an advisor on matters of church policy whose judgment was almost unerring and a man for whom DUTY was the sublimest word in our language.

During my long acquaintance, association and close friendship with him I never knew him to indulge in equivocation or in any other manner attempt to make things appear as they were not, whether in financial or other dealings. Sincerity was one of the cornerstones in the mighty edifices making up his character and caused him to espouse a rugged type of righteousness in private life and civic affairs.

Modesty is an attribute of greatness. Dr. Black possessed modesty to an unusual degree. He was rarely the first to speak out in committee, nor was he noted for much speaking. He did not sound a trumpet in the street when he gave alms.

One will not even find his name on the doors or on the windows of the various business firms with which he was prominently connected.

Modest in Works

It was not characteristic of him to seek notoriety and praise, but rather to work and to serve. He exemplified to a great degree the fact that: "Whoever would be great among you, let him be your minister; and whoever will be chief among you, let him be your servant."

His modesty concealed much that was fine in his character and which was known only to his most intimate friends. He possessed a sympathetic spirit of the finest sort. Henry Ward Beecher said: "To be full of goodness, full of cheerfulness, full of sympathy, full of helpful hope, causes a man to carry blessings of which he is himself as unconscious as a lamp is of its own shining."

One's loyalty may be thought of as meaning LOYALTY to GOD, loyalty to one's neighbor, and loyalty to self. These are not mutually exclusive but in many personalities are integrated into one of the finest of the flowers of Christian character.

Mention has been made of Dr. Black's devotion to his church. This was in part a manifestation of his loyalty to his Creator and His teachings. In this connection it might be said that while others might doubt the authenticity of divine inspiration of certain parts of scripture, Dr. Black doubted not the divine origin of a single word of Holy Writ. His was a sublime faith in the truthfulness of the account of God's revelation to man and the great plan of his redemption. Dr. Black was loyal to this great faith.

Devoted to Family

To his family he gave the very best that was in himself in unselfish devotion. Their welfare, both materially and spiritually was ever uppermost in his heart with a concern that at times bordered on needless anxiety. I hesitate to speak of this relationship so idealistic, so sacred and so private. Furthermore it was only glimpses that I saw of what his family knows better than any one else of his extreme loyalty to them. He was in every way a family man—a grand old patriarch of the West. Mark him well, for such as he was, are passing rapidly from our midst. I have already mentioned his loyalty to his friends. For a friend, he would always go the second mile and never require an explanation. Friendship was reason enough for him. But the test of a man's integrity is how well he are carried out. The people of this section have worked tirelessly and spent large sums in efforts to induce the government to officially and financially recognize the worth and value of Palo Duro Canyon, and it begins to look as if they are going to get action with a bang. The canyon is 13 miles from the city of Canyon, and approximately 34 miles from Amarillo.

Army trucks are moving up and down the highway in considerable numbers, tents have been erected at the entrance to the canyon, pipe lines have been laid, water tanks erected, and everything is being speeded to start actual work on the improvements shortly. Army officers, manifesting the efficiency that helped to win the World War for the Allies, have tackled their job seriously, co-operating with the civil authorities in laying the foundation for the completion of a great project.

The canyon will be officially called the Palo Duro State Park. It has 14,000 acres in all. It was formerly part of one of the largest ranches in the world. Roads will be built into the canyon, swimming pools and other recreational conveniences provided, and it is planned that work, now just starting, will be carried on for two and probably four years, after which it would be a state park of national reputation, both for grandeur and accommodations.

to come to Canyon to send their children to school. An erroneous report has got out to the effect that the tuition in the training school will be greatly increased. This is not true. Instead the facilities of the training school are freely given to as many students as can be cared for. The enrollment in each grade will have to be limited, however.

Persons who are interested in entering their children in any department of the training school from the first grade to the eleventh grade of the high school are asked to communicate with F. E. Savage, superintendent of the training school.

a benefit payment in return for an agreement to reduce acreage on next year's crop and that of 1935. The first payment will probably amount to two-thirds of the total due. The remaining third will be paid next spring when proof of acreage reduction is obtained.

The first thing for the individual farmer to do, when he decides to look into this wheat plan, will be to attend the community meetings at which the plan is outlined and the reasons for production control are set forth. The next step will be to make application for an individual farm allotment. Then he will have an opportunity to sign the wheat benefit and acreage control contract, in which the individual producer and the farm adjustment administration make a compact.

The producer will agree to reduce his fall planting by a specified amount. The adjustment administration will agree to pay him benefits for so doing.

It will be up to the individual growers and the county associations, however, to determine the allotments for each individual.

The set up for Randall county will be along the lines prescribed by the farm adjustment administration. The county organization will be composed of nine communities who will select community committees and members of a county board of control to administer the allotment which will be prescribed for the county. It will be the aim in Randall county to carry out the provisions of the act with the least possible expense to the wheat growers of the county. It would be impossible to take care of it without some expense.

Mailing lists of the wheat growers in each of the nine communities are being prepared in the county agent's office this week. We hope to have these complete by the time we receive final instructions for the starting of the campaign the first week in August. A circular letter may be sent out the last of this week as a test of the mailing list. Meetings will be called in each community early in August at which the adjustment payments will be explained and applications received for contracts. These contracts will not be ready to sign until the county organization is complete. This will be soon after the community meetings. It seems that Randall county has little to lose and much to gain by 100 per cent co-operation with the administration in this attempt to better the condition of the wheat farmer.
